

Living with Dementia and Alzheimer's...

The Alzheimer's Association estimates more than 6 million Americans are currently living with Alzheimer's disease, and thousands more are diagnosed with some form of dementia. Since the timeline for dementia and Alzheimer's disease is unpredictable, the best we can do is make sure your loved one's needs are met and that you get to enjoy your time together. Partnering with an in-home care provider like Always Best Care of Basking Ridge can allow your loved one to remain as independent as possible for as long as possible and stay in the comfort of their own home while it's safe for them to do so. In this month's article we highlighted the stages of Alzheimer's and what you must prepare for if your loved one is diagnosed with this disorder. We cannot predict the future, but we can help today. Please call us at 908-484-1600 to find out how we can help you!

Understanding the Progression of Alzheimer's Disease

Watching a loved one struggle with Alzheimer's disease can be challenging. There is no way to predict how quickly or slowly the disease will progress or exactly how it will affect someone's cognitive abilities. There is no way to prevent Alzheimer's, and there is currently no cure, so one of the best things you can ... Read Article
